This Week's Mystery Member Of The Week

The lack of change from an eleven-year-old lad to today's haggard old leech is uncanny. Although today he still can do a number of things he did back then, the electric shock treatments have eliminated the shower curtain under his bottom bed sheet. He retains that enthusiastic, Ukrainian outlook that has gotten him to this stage of life unscathed. His infectious grin hasn't healed either. Guess who!

Meeting Goings-on

One guest, Len Sklerov from NY now living in Decatur.

Eighteen singers.

Richard Sukoff discussed Valentine program.

Happy Valentine's Day to all

Performance next Tuesday, Feb 20, at Parc at Piedmont.

Upcoming Contest Reminder

Gentlemen,

Here is another friendly reminder that the deadline for contest entries is Friday, February 23rd, midnight. If you have not passed this on to your quartets or choruses, you may be the blame for a contestant failing to get their entry in to me on time. Help us ALL out and make sure this message gets out, PLEASE!

The following competitors have officially entered the Chorus/Quartet contests in Knoxville March 23-25, 2007.

IF your chorus or quartet is not listed, you are NOT officially entered in the contests. You have only THIRTEEN days (13) before the deadline.

AND, here is a little tidbit that may whet your appetites to come to the Dixie convention this year. Rumor has it that MAX Q will be competing out of district in Dixie for Score Only to qualify for Denver. This may be the last chance to see Max Q if you have never seen them perform. What a treat! And this is just another reason why you should register for the weekend convention! Tell ALL your chapter members about this!

The Four Stages Of Life

From the Editor,

I would like to thank every one of you who E-mailed or called to say hello and offer your aid in the bleak time period our family now awaits. Irene always loved you guys and enjoyed being at the dine arounds and Thursday Ippolito lunches.

Thanks again.
